ED. NOTE: WHEN OBSERV-ER Reader Valerie Vonder-muhl, of New York City, wrote of plans for a world-circling vacation, we asked her to record some of her impressions and drop them in whatever mailbox she found. What the mail brought this week follows.

BY VALERIE VONDERMUHL
"Our trip started off routinely enough with a New York to San Francisco flight air coach, on Monday."

We took off the next day from San Francisco in a half tourist, half first class plane and had a pleasant run to Honolulu. When we re-embarked, life was all too real.

Opposite us was a silent, grumpy man on the aisle seat and a woman with two small children in the other two. She was surrounded by bundles, and the kids were hot, cross, and grumpy. Since the plane was packed, the mother felt self-conscious that her kids were a nuisance. We agreed that the mother perpetrated to quiet them. Being the nearest (except for the business man) and the least combated (there were two adults and three children in the row next to us), we decided that we could help and by morning we were in the nurse business.
For a bit we did self-rightedly, as we got to know the mother, an Australian war bride back to visit, her husband was for the first time in nine years, we were more grateful for the change to see the U.S. in a fresh light.

Defends U.S.
First we heard her quietly defending her country, the grumpy Australian, then, as we chatted between bouts with the babies we learned about her avocation for both countries and her anxieties to see her native country again. We were right renew old ties but also to judge for herself attitudes and policies that were often criticized in her adopted home.

As we made friends with 8-month-old Michael and his year-old Elizabeth, we also had reemphasized to that a visitor in a new country should have an unlimited license to compare and judge at first sight.
Two months divided among 12 countries were all we would have; our new friend had spent years in Colombia, Ecuador, neighboring states, had married and was raising a family in the U.S.
Our first stop after Hawaii was Canton Island. It was 2 a.m. or maybe 4 — we had lost track of time changes. We stayed in the plane with our "charges" and watched the efficient native crew service the plane.
Barefoot Ellise Islanders in white coveralls handled the refueling, while 6-foot and over Fijians in kilt-short white wraparound skirts took care of the inside of the plane. Later on as we took off the outside men joined up, proudly showing us their "their" plane took off. We were told that many of these men had been working for the airline for 10 years.
A similar crew gave the plane the same expert treatment at Nadi Airport in the Fijis the next day.

First Red Tape
When we reached Sydney, Australia we had our first taste of red tape. Before actually landing we had to fill out three forms, and grumbled about what lay ahead on our trip hours in customs, at immigration desks, with medical officers, etc.
We cut off the gripes, though neither of us will accept credit or blame for the statement — "How else can we learn of the country's customs?"
Actually, it was a very well-organized arrangement.
When in when we were called — women with children and aliens first. The Australians waited cheerfully, knowing that once started through, they, as natives, would have fewer prob-

Child Health Habits

By Frances Cannon
Health Education Specialist
Ag. News Service
How do children form habits?
Children, like grown-ups, will repeat a thing that gives them satisfaction and pleasure. In this way they develop a habit.
Almost every child likes to have grown-ups pay attention to him. Almost every child will do deliberately the things that make him the center of attention. He will repeat something for which you have praised him, but also he will repeat something for which you have scolded him. In both cases the child wants your attention, and he seems willing to take either praise or scolding, so long as he gets the attention.
If a child carries his empty dish to the kitchen and everybody praises him he will probably do it again willingly and begin to form a good habit.
If he throws his cup of milk on the floor and everybody makes a fuss over this, he will probably do it again in order to enjoy being the center of a fuss.
Try to pay no attention to a child when he misbehaves. Forget something he has done.
"A child wants to be loved, to be accepted, to be complimented.
It's up to you to control yourself and not fuss at wrongdoing — but rather praise the good."

PLENTIFUL BEEF FORECAST

An abundance of beef will be coming to market from now on through the fall, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Lean beef from the grazed cattle that go to market in large numbers at this season will be most plentiful. This fall record numbers of grazed beef animals may be marketed because beef cattle numbers are usually large.
Beef is big news this year for many reasons. At the beginning of the year — in January 1954 — the country had 95 million head — more than ever before.
Over 39 million beef animals are expected to be marketed during 1954, as compared with 37 million in 1953 and 26 million in 1951.

With so much beef for sale, beef-eating probably will increase this year. The 1953 record consumption, averaging about 70 1/2 pounds per person, is expected to reach a new high of 78 pounds per person this year.
Already markets have plenty of supplies of medium and low-priced cuts of beef and larger quantities are expected. This should be cheerful news, especially for the family on a food budget. Such beef may make excellent steaks, casseroles and meat pies, hamburgers or other ground meat dishes. The lean, less expensive cuts are just as nutritious as more expensive beef and can be just as flavorful and attractive if properly cooked. The big secret of making such meat tender is long, slow, moist cooking. Braising — that is, first broiling in fat and then cooking slowly with moisture — makes for fine flavor and attractive brown color and tenderness. The less tender beef may also be cooked successfully under pressure, in a much shorter time.
him the center of interest when you want him to repeat an action, you can help him build good habits of eating, sleeping, playing, and cleanliness.

LOOKING INTO THE FACTS...

This series of feeding notes is brought to you from the pages of PETS, the weekly publication for the feeding industry in the U.S.A.

FLYING START . . .

In a recent article "Give the Baby a Flying Start," Jack Sams, Illinois feed manufacturer and expert, states that from the moment a calf is born, it needs vitamins, antibiotics, arsenicals, etc.
" . . . It is becoming evident that four footed animals will achieve their greatest growth on the least amount of feed only when they get off to a flying start, and to get them off to this flying start requires a complex mixture of antibiotics, vitamins and minerals. . . . If a calf is fed largely with milk, we will find that its later development will be held back and the feeding ratio will be worsened no matter how well the calf is fed at a later date."

ROBBERIES

BY BENJAMIN S. ROBERTS

Before World War I the equilibrium of Europe was carefully balanced between the Central Powers, Austria-Hungary and Germany, on one hand; and France, and Russia on the other. The position of England as "the balance of power" was that of mediator.
Whichever side she chose to favor felt the other power as well as her influence would prevent the other power from over acts leading to war.

In the early twentieth century England drew nearer France than she had been for many and in addition looked with favor upon an alliance with Russia.
It is a matter of history that Kaiser Wilhelm chose war as a means of enlarging his German Empire and the result was Germany's defeat, Russia's collapse, France's weakness and the beginning of the decline of Britain. The Austro-Hungarian Empire was shattered.

Today a divided Germany looks to whichever victor in World War II will give her unity. A re-united Germany is vastly more important to German pride than the choice between the Russians on the east and the powers making up the allies on the west.
During the discussions concerning about the defense of Europe from the Russian menace.
The question of Germany's rearmament has been upper most in European minds, particularly, the minds of the French.
France, quiet naturally, feel that German rearmament imper-ils her borders and means a repetition of 1918 and 1939.
England meanwhile wishes to maintain a traditional position of holding a balance in Europe power from across the channel. She does not wish to participate in strength in some other way.

The former of the Austrian Empire components are either under Russian domination or are weakened from years of occupation.
Into this vacuum of uncertainty and mutual distrust of intentions, Russia has moved with a sure awareness of how she will profit from exploiting the dilemmas of the European nations.
The United States as a World power has inherited this vast, confused problem. It is the U.S.A. which has become the balance of power in the world.
Her authority is immeasurably strengthened by possession of nuclear weapons. But Russia this week announced nuclear tests.

What formerly concerned Europe alone, now concerns the world.
The U.S.A. looks toward both Russia and is involved in both the east and the west. There is a dreadful need for us to understand the Russian mind and what we must succeed in bringing about now.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, Belle Glade CHRISTIAN SCIENCE GROUP, Canal Point

How understanding of the spiritual nature of reality brings enduring health, harmony, and progress—will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson - Sermon entitled "Reality" includes the following from I Peter (1:24, 25): "For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away: But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following correlative passage will be read (335:27-29): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal." The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (1:31): "As it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord."

HEALTH TOPICS

Presented by your Doctor of Medicine at a Health Service of the Florida Medical Association and your local Medical Society.

SLEEP
There is no hard and fast rule to govern the number of hours required by individuals for sleeping. Actually, the quality of sleep, not the amount is what counts. It is generally conceded that a person engaged in physical labor requires less sleep than the one who expends mental effort. In sleep all actions of the body are slowed down. Breathing is less frequent, and pulse is less frequent, and the conscious mind is quiet. All muscular systems much like the recharging of a battery and serves to restore the ability to relax is the secret of restful sleep. Emotional tension contributes to muscular tension. The person who takes his problems of the day and those of tomorrow to bed with him is not able to relax. Instead he mentally wrestles with himself, accomplishing nothing by his staying awake. When he finally falls asleep, he is emotionally tired and sleeps fitfully; for if the emotional unit remains "keyed up" there is no relaxation which is the essential factor in real rest.

The use of sleeping pills to induce sleep is to be frowned on, except when under doctor's orders. People having difficulty in going to sleep should learn to prepare themselves by ridding their minds of all emotional conflict of the day. Every effort should be made to relax mentally and physically well in advance of bedtime. Remember it is the quality of the sleep that counts. Nervous fatigue, involving worry, frustration, anxiety and similar emotional attitudes causes a tiredness not easily remedied by sleep. If this condition persists, a physician should be consulted to ascertain the cause. Don't take your troubles to bed with you. Learn to relax. If your mind is calm, it will ease you gently into restful sleep.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh Slugger Wins the "Home" Game Slugger White, the home town's star hitter, dropped by the other day to talk baseball, and to "tell you" himself.
"Seems Slugger had been babbling," I was doing just fine, "he said, 'until it was time for a change.' I called Mom for advice. Still didn't get it right. Then Dad set me straight."
"Place the diaper like a baseball diamond with you at bat," he said. "Fold second base over home plate, and pin first and third base on home plate. That did it—with no errors!"
From where I sit, Slugger's Dad had the idea. Often, like his Mom, a lot of us tend to give advice in our terms without considering the other fellow's way of doing things. Even in choosing your favorite beverage, it's best to think of your neighbor. If you like tea, and I prefer a temperature of beer, we should both "play the game" and try to understand each other's point of view.

Farmers-NOW you can get EXTRA PROTECTION against gear wear

100,000 lbs. per square inch

SHELL SPIRAX EP

In modern axle and transmission gears, tooth pressure can exceed 100,000 lbs. per sq. inch. And the gear teeth will slide over one another as high as 1,500 feet per minute. These severe conditions may cause scoring or scuffing of gear teeth in your farm machines.

SHELL SPIRAX EP—the extreme pressure lubricant—protects against these conditions—resists wear.

1. PROTECTS METAL SURFACES—clings to surfaces under extreme conditions.
2. NON-FOAMING—resists effects of water.
3. DOESN'T THICKEN—resists whirling action of gears, pressure, and heat of friction.
4. HELPS PREVENT RUST—protects gear surfaces.
5. STAYS STABLE—in storage or in use. Resists oxidation.
6. REMAINS FLUID—permits easier gear shifting.
7. COOLS GEARS—resists heat.
8. MULTI-PURPOSE—for cars, trucks, and farm equipment.

REMEMBER...Shell Spirax EP is a lubricant for extreme pressure gears. In other cases—use Shell Dextas—a high-quality, straight mineral-type transmission oil—recommended for worm gears and spiral bevel gear axles.

SEE US TODAY for complete, economical protection of all your farm machines.

Hull Death Thins Pioneer Ranks

PAHOKEE — The death of William W. Hull here last week at the age of 80 took another pioneer from the Glades scene.

Mr. Hull, a "veteran" of both the 1916 and 1918 hurricanes here, according to his survivors, came to the Glades with his brother, the late Calvert Hull. It took two days for them to come from Lakeland to Okeechobee in a Model T, and then they had another strenuous trip, by boat, into the Glades.

Mr. Hull first lived on the ridge about where Joe Hatten's house now stands. Farm land surrounded the house. The Hull beans, for which the picking cost was about 10 cents a hamper brought $5 - $8 on the market in those days.

In the mid-30's, Mr. Hull went to Indiantown, where he farmed sand land crops, including squash, peppers, and egg plants. There he lived a large part of the time in a hunting camp near the St. Lucie. He was a constant hunter, and his dogs were always at his side.

Mr. Hull retired in 1941. He had been ill for about four and a half years, before his death at Everglades Memorial Hospital. He was unmarried, and leaves his brother, W. G. Hull, Pahokee, and two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Hester, Tampa, and Mrs. F. R. Wiggins of his native Plant City. Graveside services were held at the Mount Knox Cemetery, Plant City, Sept. 14. Rev. Don Milley, pastor of Plant City First Baptist Church, officiated.

Florida's 20 million acres of forest land places her second only to Oregon in total land covered by commercial forest.

GRAVESIDE SERVICES HELD FOR CARLE INFANT

BELLE GLADE — Graveside services were conducted Sunday at 11:30 a. m. at Port Mayaca Cemetery for Infant Carle, child of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carle.

Mrs. Marie A. King, Christian Science reader, officiated. Weatherington Funeral Home was in charge.

Annual income from Florida's forest products is over $23 million dollars, second in value to the tourist industry.

Dusk Is Dangerous!

Late afternoon hours can be a dangerous time on autumn evenings. By the time youngsters are peddling home from a scout meeting or football game after school, it's twilight and time for every driver to be extra cautious. Parents can help by seeing that every bicycle is equipped with an adequate reflector to warn approaching cars. The two children here are using safety reflectors of red "Scotchlite." More than 15 million of these are being distributed this fall in special packages of a leading brand of margarine. The red hexagons light up more than a block away when a car's headlights shine on them.

Belle Glade C-C May Have Float

BELLE GLADE — The University of Florida Alumni head men in Belle Glade, William B. Rhodes, was appointed to find out whether there's enough local interest to support a float at the U. of F. homecoming, at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Wednesday night.

The university's Trianon Society asked the chamber to find out whether Belle Glade would be represented and Rhodes was the logical choice for sounding out community sentiment, officials felt.

The Chamber of Commerce directors decided to use the theme identifying wall plaques for chamber members with the insertion of a '55 in place of the '54 now on them. It was also decided to order decals which will identify places of business as chamber members.

Mrs. Young will attend the annual fall meeting of Florida Chamber of Commerce executives to be held in Havana at the end of October, directors confirmed.

It was reported that one new member was brought into the chamber, one member renewed and several members indicated that they were going to renew their memberships. One professional man donated $10 to the chamber.

Puerto Rico visitors bureau has offered Belle Glade chamber a travelog consisting of film and descriptions of Puerto Rico, said Mrs. Young.

FARM LABOR

New law placing all farm employees who earn $100 or more yearly from one farmer under Social Security, the OBSERVER asked Sen. George Smathers if he could explain just how the Florida delegation in Congress thought the social security could be collected from pickers.

He replied: "With respect to your inquiry relating to background material on what members of the Florida Delegation had to say in regard to how the social security tax will be collected from day laborers, I can only speak for myself in saying that I fully realize that at the beginning some hardships will undoubtedly be created from the administrative standpoint. It was this reasoning which led to the exclusion from social security coverage of stum naval store workers because of the many transients in this field. I am hopeful that some practical working system concerning day laborers will be developed in cooperation with the local social security agency."

The Social Security Administration field office covering the Glades is at 501 North Olive in West Palm Beach. R. C. Gehlert, Jr. is district manager. Letters may be addressed to P. O. Box 3171, West Palm Beach.

Treasure a crop and can be grown like corn or tobacco. Profits from planted pines can be made in 15 years.

My Pepper, Albert Fremd and Jimmy Vann prepared the barbecue and other contributors were Lewis Friend, Jerry Gold, Paul Sasser, Cliff Stuart, Roscelle Wilson, W. G. Hull and Frank Shaughnessy. Curtis Chase got the "T" beam uprights donated by Florida Power and Light Co. and Stuart fabricated the beam supports at a considerable saving. Shirley Bros. donated the concrete for the foundations.

Dr. Mendal Luce presented Ed Carver, Scout Master of Pahokee Troop 28, in a program given over to Scout activities. Leon Beede introduced the following scouts: Joe Alderman who related the Scout laws, Mike Wilson who recited the Scout oath, Franklin Smith who demonstrated field signals and Trip Alderman who presented the agreement and arrangement under which you farm. If the share arrangement is that you pay the landowner a share of the crop as rent for the land, you are ordinarily considered self-employed for social security purposes.

Tenants, Sharecroppers

A new fact sheet issued by the Social Security Administration, forwarded by Sen. Smathers, explains "Who Reports For Tenants, Sharecroppers, Etc." as follows:

"(1) If you rent or lease land, for either money rent, or for other kind of rent, and farm it as your own then you are self-employed for social security purposes. You make out a social security report for yourself, just as any other self-employed farmer, once a year and pay the social security tax if your net earnings are $400 or more for the year." (Ed. Note: Early in 1955, unless a majority of self-employed farmers objects, they will begin paying social security on themselves, under the new law.)

(2) If you farm on shares, you may be either an employee or self-employed for social security purposes, depending on the agreement and arrangement under which you farm. If the share arrangement is that you pay the landowner a share of the crop as rent for the land, you are ordinarily considered self-employed for social security purposes.

On the other hand, if the share arrangement is that the landowner, or other operator of the farm, pays you a share of the crop, or of the proceeds from it, as pay for your work, then you are considered his employee. If your share is in the form of cash pay amounting to $100 or more in a year, the person you work for is responsible for deducting two per cent of your pay, putting the same amount of his own with it, and sending this amount to the Director of Internal Revenue.

On the basis that "occupancy is prima facie evidence" that there is garbage and trash, the commission decided not to change its policy on enforcement of garbage collection charges.

In other actions the commissioners: PAID bills totaling $2,178.59 in general fund and $389.08 in water fund; BOUGHT an 18 inch Crouch pump for use on 8th St.; TABLED further action on defining policy of commission in regard to repair of doubtful buildings until after the result of the pending hearing is known;
